Such a visitation was that which came on detober 3 of the present year to our friand and associate. Mr. 3 O. Reber.

Mr. Reber had endeared himself to us and in the community generally by his sunny ways, his high attandard of manhood and the universal courtesy which characterized his daily association with his fellow men.

We regret his untimely demise, and shall hold his memory in pleasant remembrance. To his family, and particularly to those of his immediate household now distracted with grief, we hold out the tenier hand of sympathy, and express the hope that their surrows may be softened and that they may be given strength to bear the blow which has fallen upon them.

Superintendent of Transit Company Confesses to Spectacular Robberies.

MIDDLETON N. Y., Oct. 24.-By the alleged confession of Charles Boos, until a few days ago superintendent of the Waikill Transit company's lines in Orange, a spectacular police mystery has been solved. According to the police, he admitted to them yesterday that he had robbed one of the largest department stores in the city, besides several residences, in the last few months.

Boos jestingly reminded the police that he himself had raised the hue and cry one night a few weeks ago when a burglar was chased out of the residence of F. P. S. Crane, a wealthy man. He said the police were close on him before he got out of the house, and that he ran ahead of them, shouting, "Stop, thist. Carch that man!" thief! Catch that man!"

Works "Stop Thief" Ruse.

Works "Stop Thief" Ruse.

This ruse worked so well that Boos resorted to it again a few nights later, when he had forced his way into the home of J. L. Pendleton, and from which he was frightened by an alarm. Boos is regarded as a modern social highwayman. He drew a large salary as superintendent of the big transit corporation and lived in good style in spartments on one of the best streets in the city. He was popular in society, and dressed in the latest fashion. He was apparently one of the busiest men in town, had time for nothing but his work, and seemed an exemplary man of business. of business.

Amazed at Arrest.

Great was the amazement when it be-came known last Friday that he had been arrested and locked up. The charges against him were made by the officials of the transit company. It was charged that the superintendent had stolen a large quantity of copper wire from the company and sold it to a junk

A subsequent search of Boos' fine subsequent search of Boos fine spartments revealed plunder for which the police had long been looking, and which, it is alleged, was taken from a department store and private residences. Confronted with the goods, Boos, it is said, confessed.

Has Fine Apartments.

Boos' bachelor apartments were the best in town, and, incidentally, he had added to their comfort by tapping the wires of the company from which he drew a large salary and furnishing his rooms with five incandescent lights.

With a full knowledge of all the facts testified to by President Smith, Mr. Smoot sneitained him week before last and says he will do nothing to bring him to trial for those offenses, which are as gross a violation of law as the plural marriages of Apostles Taylor and Cowley.

As an official of the Mormon church, which through its apostles gave its official pledge to the American people that it would abandon polygamous marriages and polygamous practices, Mr. Smoot should be excluded from the Senate at the opening of next session, unless in the pening of next session, unless in the neantime he has brought charges against opening of next session, unless in the meantime he has brought charges against President Smith and every polygamous apostic of that church. Mr. Smith himself declared, "The Congress of the United States has no business with my private conduct." The United States Senate, out of respect to itself and out of respect to the Nation, should show the rulers of the Mormon church that they cannot make a pledge to the Nation upon which legislation by Congress is based and break that pledge with impunity. Aposties Taylor and Cowley are reputed to have taken plural wives since the promulgation of the manifeste suspending the church have as to polygamy issued by President Woodraff. Senator Smoot is to be commended for taking his position. His action displayed great moral courage or is part of a well kid scheme on the part of the Mormon officials to decrive the American people and allay public feeling. But Senator Smoot has not gone for enough. Until he votes against the continuance in office of President Joseph F. Smith and a number of apostles who continuance in office of President Joseph F. Smith, in his testimony before the Committee on Privileges and Elections of the United States Senate, confessed that he not only himself and other apostles as representatives of their church that they would abandon plural marriages and unlawful cohabitation with plural wives, but practically declared, in justification of his violation of the law, that all who had married plural wives were living in polygamous cohabitation with them.
